CIVILIAN DEFENSE UNITS WERE READY FOR ACTION WHEN JAPS UNLEASHED ATTACK ON HAWAII

Despite the Suddenness of Japanese Blow, Civilians Rushed To Their Assigned Posts Immediately

(Note: This is the first of a series of five articles on how Honolulu prepared for war and how the civilian organizations functioned at maximum efficiency almost from the first moment of the Japanese air attacks on Pearl Harbor on Sunday, December 7th.—INS)

By RICHARD HALLER

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 10—They laughed at me last June when I sat down to write, and some of them even made complaints to the editor about the absurdity of assuming that war could ever come to Hawaii. It can't happen here, they said, and it was wrong to scare people with all these stories about what we would have to do if the islands were ever attacked.

One article that made a lot of people particularly angry included a reprint of the army's official evacuation map of Honolulu, showing which areas would be evacuated and where the residents would go. It suggested that families make arrangements in advance to double up with friends who lived in safer parts of the city. For weeks people wanted to know why it was necessary to scare them with such ideas. "It can't happen here," became almost a slogan.

The series of articles had been suggested by army authorities and was worked out with their co-operation. They were about reserve stocks of food for individual homes, how to build air raid shelters, protection against fire from incendiary bombs, how to prepare for evacuation and other kindred subjects.

They also described the organizations of civilians then being formed, such as auxiliary police, medical and first aid units, ambulance corps, fire wardens, air raid wardens, local food production by sugar and pineapple plantations and messenger duty.

More than a year ago Col. Albert K. Z. Lyman, department engineer, had been assigned the task of formulating a plan of civilian preparedness. The finished plan was an admirable document that provided the material for the articles I wrote, and practically every phase of that plan was placed in operation within an hour after the first attack.

The majority of Honolulu people took the preparedness suggestions seriously. Many accumulated reserve food supplies and made tentative arrangements in case they should be evacuated. Others, however, continued to scoff at the absurdity of spreading unnecessary alarm because "it couldn't happen here." Japan was too far away and the islands were completely secure from attack.

When the attack did come all the civilians who had joined the various preparedness organizations rushed to their assigned posts immediately. Improvised ambulances that had been planned and volunteered months before were transporting wounded to hospitals within an hour. Doctors and nurses and their volunteer assistants were at the hospitals ready for work by the time the wounded started to arrive.

Auxiliary police volunteers knew exactly what to do and took their posts on guard duty and traffic control without awaiting specific orders. It is entirely possible this division of preparedness prevented some serious traffic mixups, some looting and perhaps even some sabotage.

Officials of the telephone system were notified at 7:55 a. m. that an attack was being launched against Oahu, and even while the attack was under way special circuits were added to communication facilities between key points to expedite the co-ordination of defense.

The value of preparedness was demonstrated in a thousand ways before the first hour of war was over. Instead of panic there was efficient execution by trained groups of long-standing orders. The records made can be of value to every American community. It is extremely doubtful that any mainland city will ever need such preparedness, but many persons thought it doubtful that Honolulu would ever need it.

(Succeeding articles in this series will tell how the different organizations functioned.)

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

CLEANED BY REPORTERS

Frazier Hunt, owner of a farm near Wood Hill, has built a large cattle shed on the west side of his barn yard, and in doing this has restored the farm buildings to the original plan of Thomas B. Scott, formerly an owner of the property.

A cattle shed on the original site was destroyed by fire in 1898, and it was not re-built. On the top of the structure was a weather vane with a trotting horse. This served as a symbol of the Scott stock farm. This same weather vane was on the top of three buildings which were destroyed by fire.

Cold weather this week did not prevent a large attendance at the monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Midway Fire Company at the headquarters of the fire company at Lahaska.

The meeting, attended by about 25 persons, was featured by the installation of the recently elected officers with Mrs. Samuel L. Wilkinson, a trustee, in charge.

The following were inducted into office: President, Mrs. Watson D. Lake; first vice-president, Mrs. John G. Fetterolf; second vice-president, Miss Mary Johnson, Jr.; financial secretary, Miss Elva Beldier; recording secretary, Mrs. Oliver H. Myers; treasurer, Miss Dorothy Wilkinson; and trustee, Miss Nellie Magill, who retired from the presidency at the meeting last evening.

Two new members, Mrs. Edward Landis and Mrs. Jessie Gray Cook, Solebury, were welcomed at the meeting of the New Hope Women's Club at the home of Mrs. George S. Havens, New Hope, on Wednesday. The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Harry B. Wagner.

Following the reading of several communications, upon which no action was taken because of the small attendance, Mrs. Clarke Ansley announced a meeting of the book section will be held at her home on January 20th, at which time Mrs. Frederick B. Sanson will give a book review.

The president appointed Mrs. William Tinsman, Mrs. Walter W. Ely and Mrs. Elsie Smith to serve on the nominating committee and to report at the next meeting.

Leedom Co. Cuts Production In Line With Gov't Edict

The Thomas L. Leedom Company, manufacturer of carpets and rugs, is in keeping with the government edict cutting consumption of wool used in its manufacturing processes 50 per cent.

Some employees have already been released, although it is stated by company officials that should any defense orders be received, the list of employees will no doubt be increased.

There will be a cut made in the variety of patterns, although it is stipulated by government authorities that there is to be no product of inferior quality made by substitution of raw materials, unless permission is received from the government.

Raid-Warning Centers Selected In The State

HARRISBURG, Jan. 10—(INS)—Selection of air-raid centers has now been completed for the entire State, the State Defense Council announced today, and the installation of warning boxes at these centers will be finished within 10 days.

Distriking of the State was completed with the selection of 23 warning centers in Western Pennsylvania. These centers together with the 34 designated in Eastern and Central Pennsylvania and already supplied with warning boxes, make a total of 57 centers for the State's 67 counties.

Each warning center relays warnings of impending air raids to surrounding towns, industries and other vital points after an "alert" is received at the warning box from the army interceptor command at Mitchell Field, Long Island.

COMMITTEES LISTED

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Jan. 10—The Bensalem Township School Board, meeting in the high school here Thursday evening, went on record for 100% co-operation with the Bucks County Council of Civilian Defense. This action has already taken concrete shape, since the board has been busy for some time making arrangements for care of the students in the school system in the event of any emergency.

Plans have been made for the blackout of all school buildings. Sand has been ordered placed at strategic spots in the buildings. Wire will be placed on all windows to lessen the hazard of flying glass. Several of the teachers have been made special wardens. Air-raid and evacuation drills have been planned and practiced; and telephones have been placed in all schools in the district.

All members of the board were present when these plans were discussed and outlined. President William E. Abel was in charge of the meeting. Routine committee reports were made. Treasurer Joseph Sharpe reported re-

READ THIS CAREFULLY; IT MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE SOME DAY!

Should an air raid come to your community, you can do your part while protecting yourself. Remember these six simple rules:

1. Keep calm and cool.
2. Stay home.
3. Put out lights.
4. Lie down.
5. Stay away from windows.
6. Don't telephone.

Don't run—walk. Don't scream—be quiet. Don't crowd into public places. If the raid starts when you are away from home, lie down under shelter. Keep your mouth open by rolling your handkerchief and putting it between your teeth. Put your hands over your ears. Protect the back of your head. Don't look up.

In the house, go into your refuge room and close the door. Make yourself comfortable. Relax. If bombs fall near you, lie down. A good place is under a table with sturdy legs, or a strong couch turned upside down.

Keep away from windows. Don't look out. Shut off gas furnaces, ranges, or water heaters, and their pilot lights. Shut off electrical connections. Put out all lights you cannot closely screen, so no light reaches the street—the light that's out or covered tight will never guide a Jap!

If an incendiary hits your house, go put it out with a spray (never a stream, jet, or splash) of water. It will burn out rapidly under a fine water spray—a splash or stream makes it scatter molten metal. When it is out, go back to shelter.

The chances your home will be hit is very small. Keep cool. Stay off the streets. Again we say—keep cool!

Appoint one member of the family for your home warden to remember all rules. Mother makes the best!

Stay quiet indoors or under shelter till the "all clear" sounds.

Don't believe wild rumors. Don't crowd. Don't scream. Don't telephone. Don't start disorder or panic. Do what the Air Raid Warden tells you to do. Be strong, be calm, be orderly. Lick the aggressors—everyone can help. Do your share!

Axis Continues Withdrawals

Cairo—Continued Axis withdrawals toward Aghella on the Libyan battle front were announced today by the British Middle Eastern high command, which also reported new British assaults on Axis forces southwest of Agedabia.

At some points, the communiques said, the Nazis and Italians fled at such speed the British were unable to catch them and make them fight.

British headquarters admitted the British forces jammering Gen. Erwin Rommel's forces were encountering "more stubborn" resistance.

British advance units have found the retreating Nazis still well integrated and effective.

British Bomb Jap Targets

Singapore—Smashing, flame-kindling air attacks on far-flung Jap military targets were announced by the British Far Eastern command today in a communique which also conceded new British withdrawals on the Western Malayan front.

RAF planes flew far and wide this morning in a startling series of sudden raids on Japanese objectives at Sungai Patani, the Ipoh airbase and Singora.

Tons of explosives and fire bombs were hurled on these targets, and at Singora large quantities of Jap military supplies were reported damaged. The raids were made while British and Jap troops were locked in a severe battle in the jungles of western Malaya.

Japs Begin Drive At Philippines

Washington—The War Department today indicated that the first phase of Japan's "all-out" drive to complete conquest of the Philippines has begun with artillery duels northwest of Manila.

Large Japanese reinforcements also were mentioned, supporting the belief that the Japs are on the verge of launching a vast ground offensive against Gen. Douglas MacArthur's defense troops believed deployed chiefly in the northern area of Bataan.

Japanese hordes apparently have begun a new attempt to land on the coast of Mindanao Island.

Their last effort to land there failed when American bombing planes dispersed their ships, sinking several of them.

The War Department's communique today stated:

"Philippine theatre—intensive patrolling and artillery duels characterized ground operations on the island of Luzon yesterday. Heavy enemy reinforcements are being brought to the front. Other indications point to the resumption of an offensive drive by the Japanese."

DISASTER COMMITTEE READY TO REGISTER REFUGEES IF NEEDED

Registration Centers Arranged For in Case of Raid or Other Disaster

LISTS ARE PREPARED

File Names of Doctors, Nurses, Lists of Buildings Available for Shelter

Should any disaster occur that would cause floods of refugees to seek food, shelter or medical care here, Bristol is prepared to cope with the situation.

The plan for registration and care of such refugees is under the general supervision of the Red Cross Disaster Committee, in conjunction with Bucks County Defense Council, with Franklin W. Wallin serving as chairman of the registration and information committee.

The program of activity is so arranged that should a stream of refugees, in need due to air raids, or other disaster, enter Bristol from other points, they will be registered at the Rohm & Haas Social Club headquarters, near the Burlington-Bristol bridge. Emergency police will direct the refugees to that center, and decision will be made as to handling of the group, whether they will be cared for locally or sent to other points, depending upon the number. If medical or hospital care is needed such will be arranged for.

In case of a local disaster, such as bombing fire, etc., the registration center will be at the Bristol high school building. In such case the county defense council will not assist unless requested, inasmuch as such would be considered as a local responsibility.

The registration committee is made up of: Mr. Wallin, Mrs. E. Linton Martin, Miss Anna Warwick, Miss Frances Landroth, Miss Anita Wallace, Thomas Coles, and John Rich. This group would be charged with the responsibility of setting up the required office for registration, then call upon other volunteers if and as needed.

The committee has in its files extensive lists of places where refugees may be cared for here. These lists include specific information regarding shelter, whether temporary or otherwise; kitchen facilities, hospital details, names of doctors and nurses. Thus the committee can co-operate with other groups, such as the Red Cross disaster committee, and others. One copy of this list is available at any time in the Red Cross headquarters, Mill street, and a duplicate is in the hands of Mr. Wallin.

It is possible, states the committee chairman, to feed 1700 refugees at one time in Bristol, there being about 17 places listed where food could be prepared and served.

The committee is authorized to purchase cots if necessary; and cots may also be procured from Philadelphia headquarters of the Red Cross. It is stated that there is sufficient room for use of cots in various buildings about the borough.

The clothing committee has listed the amounts of clothing available in local stores, prices, sizes that may be procured, etc. These, if needed, would be secured through Red Cross requisitions.

The communications group of the Red Cross is also co-operating. It is possible, it is stated, that Boy Scouts may be called upon to serve as messengers should other means of communications fail.

AT MIAMI

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hunter, of Bristol, have arrived by motor at The Shoreline, on the ocean at Miami Beach, where they expect to remain for several days' visit.

'Red-Letter' Days Told Of By New Century Club Woman

NEWTOWN, Jan. 10.—Their "red letter" days of the past year were told of by members of Newtown New Century Club, meeting Wednesday afternoon in the club headquarters.

Most of these days, it was revealed, were passed taking trips to various points of interest.

Mrs. William Fabian, president of the club, described a trip she and her husband and Robert LaRue and Mrs. Ivins had taken to the Pacific coast last fall. They traveled 9,000 miles, and passed through 25 states. Among the places visited were the shrine of Will Rogers, Pike's Peak, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City, Yellowstone National Park, Seattle, Victoria in Canada, the Golden Gate, Boulder Dam and the Grand Canyon.

A five-day trip to Virginia last summer was described by Mrs. William H. Janney, following which Miss Mary Jane Corbett gave a very interesting account of her trip to Brazil.

Others who described what they considered red letter days were Mrs. Mahlon B. Fretz, Mrs. Grace Naylor, Mrs. James Hillborn and Mrs. William Loughery.

Mrs. Hillborn said "the people of this nation should consider every day a red letter day because they are living in a country which is free."

Before and after these talks piano solos were rendered by Mrs. David K. Feaster.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

Gene Tierney, the dazzling young actress who achieves full-fledged stardom as the exotic heroine of "Sundown," now showing at the Grand Theatre, is extremely partial to leisure clothes. Thus when Gene saw the British Colonial officer's desert uniforms worn by Bruce Cabot and George Sanders in "Sundown," she was seized with an idea.

She had a feminine adaptation made of the uniform in cream-colored gabardine. The charm is in its utter simplicity and impeccable tailoring.

Walt Disney's current full-length production, "The Reluctant Dragon," which features Robert Benchley in an introductory flesh-and-blood sequence, incorporates a short story by English author Kenneth Grahame, with the story animated in Technicolor as a main sequence in the production, at the Grand Theatre Sunday.

The Grahame story concerns a village which, conditioned to believe that all dragons are fierce, fire-snorting creatures that pillage countryside and carry off beautiful maidens, thinks the same of a peaceful, poetry-loving Dragon living in a cave just outside town.

from the countryside, the villagers appeal to Sir Giles, famed dragon-slayer.

BRISTOL THEATRE

A murder mystery that springs hearty laughs in addition to suspense and thrills is "The Night of January 16th," which opened last night at the Bristol Theatre, starring Robert Preston and Ellen Drew.

A new song by Smiley Burnette, titled "Just Imagine That" is featured in "Saddlemates," at the Bristol.

"Birth of the Blues" is also at the Bristol.

RITZ THEATRE

As even the naked eye can plainly see, screen actress Veda Ann Borg's middle name happens to be "Ann." But it might well give way in favor of "Courageous," if only that were a likely word to use as a name. For Veda, who plays in support to boxer Billy Conn and Jean Parker in "The Pittsburgh Kid," now at the Ritz Theatre, on one occasion retained her courage and fighting heart in spite of a tragedy which would have broken a lesser person's will.

Bristol High School Scores Thrilling Victory Over Fallsington; 30-31

DI ANGELO SCORES A FOUL SHOT AT END OF HARD-FOUGHT GAME

Game Played On Court of The Parker School In Trenton

FINAL SCORE IS 31 TO 30

Falls Breaks A Five-Game Winning Streak by Losing To Bristol

TRENTON, Jan. 10.—With "Chick" DiAngelo sinking a foul shot within the last minute of play, Bristol High scored a thrilling 31-30 victory over Falls Township high school last night on the Parker School court.

The count was deadlocked at 30-30 when DiAngelo made an attempt to dribble towards his end of the court but Napoli stepped in and fouled him before he could get started. Awarded the free throw, DiAngelo converted it into the winning point.

Falls still had a chance to preserve its five-game winning streak when Monti was fouled just previous to the ending of the game but he missed and in the wild scramble for the ball under the basket, Bristol took possession of it.

DiAngelo led his team in scoring with a total of 13 points, five more than Kenny Parr who had eight to lead the Orange and Black.

The Falls Jay Vees continued their winning streak with a 28-11 triumph over the Bristol Jay Vees. Ken Anderson with 12 points led the Falcons to victory in this game.

field goal which gave the chemical workers the win.

The visitors outplayed the chemical workers in the last period but a third period lead decided the contest for Rohm and Haas. Gallagher and Rue scored 30 of the Rohm and Haas points.

In the preliminary game, the Franklin team, of the Bristol League, conquered the Crystalite team, of the Rohm and Haas League, 33-23, in a tilt which saw Tony Palumbo hit his stride and shake the cords with eight double-deckers and a pair of gift throws.

Expert Passing of Owlettes Did Much To Win The Game

BUCKINGHAM, Jan. 10.—The Bensalem high school girls opened their Lower Bucks County Conference season with a 51-32 triumph over Buckingham last night on the local floor.

Expert passing in the second half of the tilt gave the Owlettes their wide margin of victory. The Owlettes were passing to the forwards at the right time and the shooters seemed to hit the hoops at all angles of their playing space.

Doris Ely and Hazel Lamon, with 20 and 18 points respectively, were high scorers for the winners.

The game was delayed due to the fact that difficulty was experienced in getting an official for the tilt.

The guest speaker was introduced by Frederic Blair Jaekel, of Doylestown, a personal friend. Mr. Jaekel was the guest of Dr. Allen H. Moore, chairman of the meeting.

Although The Netherlands proper is one of "the little fellows" of Europe the speaker declared it is one of the most important nations on earth, considering many phases of its national life that enhance the economic, scientific and cultural prestige of a people through long years of uninterrupted peace.
